The Fund reported strong performance for the third calendar quarter of 2024 amid persistent market volatility fueled by macroeconomic and geopolitical challenges.

The Fund’s all-weather approach aims to capitalize on favorable relative-value opportunities in credit across different market conditions. Our disciplined, bottom-up credit underwriting allows us to identify attractive risk-adjusted investment opportunities. Our portfolio emphasizes investments that are positioned at the top of the capital structure. As a result, we aim to enhance the stability and resilience of our investments, providing a solid foundation for long-term risk-adjusted returns.

As of September 30, 2024, the Master Fund:

- Made $983 million in new investments, including 13 private loan originations in the quarter
- Had leverage of 0.43x,³ positioning the Fund to go on the offensive to invest in attractive opportunities as they arise
- Was 89%¹ senior secured, demonstrating our focus on being at the top of the capital structure

- Had a 92%² allocation to floating-rate debt, which we believe positions us well in a higher rate environment
- Was diversified across 182 issuers more than 30 industries, which helps to avoid being overly reliant on any particular industry for sourcing deal flow
- Had an average debt position of $30.2 million and a weighted average yield on debt investments of 10%
- Had a median portfolio company EBITDA of $260 million and loan-to-value of approximately 41%, underscoring our emphasis on investing in larger businesses with lower leverage
- Received investment grade ratings by Moody’s of Baa3 and by Fitch of BBB-, underscoring our high credit quality⁴

We believe the portfolio’s construction should continue to support performance. While interest rates have declined over the third quarter, they remain higher than recent historical averages and credit instruments continue to provide investors with the potential for attractive risk-adjusted returns.

Credit markets have performed well year-to-date, as both public and private markets have experienced a wave of repricing activity. As a result, we have seen overall spreads continue to compress throughout the year. However, we are still finding good opportunities within private credit given the strong deal flow, while continuing to maintain a highly selective stance given our rigorous approach to underwriting and investment selection.

Furthermore, we believe there is ample opportunity to invest in both sponsored and non-sponsored loans, and we remain committed to investing in defensively positioned businesses in less cyclical sectors that we believe should be resilient through various market conditions.

Against that backdrop, we believe the Fund is positioned well for both market turbulence around future economic growth and geopolitics, as well as an uncertain interest rate environment, given the portfolio's preponderance of senior secured, primarily first lien floating-rate holdings.

Oaktree has navigated through many economic cycles and gained valuable experience that has allowed us to capitalize on opportunities during more volatile markets. We believe that having ample capital, taking a long-term view, and remaining focused on navigating short-term volatility should position the Fund well to capitalize on opportunities going forward.

Thank you for your continued investment and support.

DISCLOSURES

Oaktree Strategic Credit Trust (Canadian Feeder) (the "Fund" or Oaktree Strategic Credit Trust) is a "feeder fund" in a master feeder arrangement that invests substantially all of its assets in Oaktree Strategic Credit Fund (the "Master Fund"). All of the information contained herein regarding the Master Fund or Oaktree Fund Advisors, LLC (the "Adviser"), the manager of the Master Fund, has been provided by the Adviser. This document is confidential and is not an offer to sell nor a solicitation of an offer to buy securities of the Fund or the Master Fund. Any offering of securities of the Fund will only occur in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Fund's confidential offering memorandum, which describes more fully the implications, terms and risks of the Fund. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an investment in the Fund is not an investment in the Master Fund and a unitholder of the Fund will have no contractual relationship with or direct recourse against the Master Fund or the Adviser.

SUMMARY OF RISK FACTORS

Because the Fund has been established to invest substantially all of its assets in the Master Fund, an investment in the Fund involves all of the risks of investing in the Master Fund in addition to those risks particular to the Fund and its operation as a "feeder fund". The Master Fund may purchase certain instruments or utilize certain investment techniques that carry specific risks. Accordingly, investment in the Fund involves considerations and risk factors that prospective investors should consider before subscribing. The risks associated with the Master Fund are not summarized fully below but rather are described in "Risk Factors" in the Master Fund prospectus. The following are key risks of an investment in the Fund itself.

Investment Risks in General. All investments in securities risk the loss, including the complete loss, of capital. No guarantee or representation is made that the Fund's or the Master Fund's investment strategy will be successful, and investment results may vary substantially over time. Adverse changes in regulation and provincial, national or international economic conditions, including, for example, financial market fluctuations, local market conditions, governmental rules and fiscal policies, availability of terms of debt financing, and interest rates, can affect substantially and adversely the prospects of the investments of the Master Fund and, consequently, the performance of the Fund.

Investment of Substantially All Assets in the Master Fund. Because the Fund invests substantially all of its assets in, and conducts its investment program through, the Master Fund, prospective investors should also carefully consider the risks that accompany an investment in the Master Fund. The risks and conflicts of interest described in the Master Fund Prospectus with respect to the Master Fund and an investment therein apply generally to the Fund and investment in the units of the Fund. The returns of the Fund depend almost entirely on the performance of its investment in the Master Fund and there can be no assurance that the Master Fund will be able to achieve its investment objective or implement its investment strategy. Certain ongoing operating expenses of the Fund, which will be in addition to those expenses indirectly borne by the Fund as an investor in the Master Fund, generally will be borne by the Fund and the unitholders, with a corresponding impact on the returns to the unitholders. Such additional expenses of the Fund will reduce the Fund's performance relative to the Master Fund. Although the Fund will be an investor in the Master Fund, investors in the Fund will not themselves be investors of the Master Fund and will not be entitled to enforce any rights directly against the Master Fund or assert claims directly against the Master Fund or its affiliates. Brookfield Public Securities Group LLC (the "Manager") is not the manager or adviser of the Master Fund and does not have any control whatsoever over its trading strategies or policies. None of the Fund nor the Manager will take part in the management of the Master Fund or have control over its management strategies and policies. The Fund is subject to the risk of bad judgment, negligence or misconduct of the Adviser. The terms of the Master Fund are subject to change.

Investments in privately owned small- and medium-sized companies pose a number of significant risks. The Master Fund will invest primarily in privately owned medium-sized companies and may also invest in privately owned small companies and, as a result, the Fund will have significant exposure to such companies. Investments in these types of companies pose a number of significant risks. For example, such companies: (a) have reduced access to the capital markets, resulting in diminished capital resources and ability to withstand financial distress; (b) may have limited financial resources and may be unable to meet their obligations under the debt securities that the Master Fund may hold, which may be accompanied by a deterioration in the value of any collateral and a reduction in the likelihood of the Master Fund realizing any guarantees it may have obtained in connection with its investment; (c) may have shorter operating histories, narrower product lines and smaller market shares than larger businesses, which tend to render them more vulnerable to competitors' actions and changing market conditions, as well as general economic downturns; (d) are more likely to depend on the management talents and efforts of a small group of persons; therefore, the death, disability, resignation or termination of one or more of these persons could have a material adverse impact on the portfolio company and, in turn, on the Master Fund; (e) may have less predictable operating results, may from time to time be parties to litigation, may be engaged in volatile businesses with products subject to a substantial risk of obsolescence and may require substantial additional capital to support their operations, finance expansion or maintain their competitive position; and (f) are not subject to the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and other regulations that govern public companies, and, therefore, provide little information to the public. In addition, the Master Fund, the Adviser, its and their affiliates and directors, executive management team and members, and the investment professionals may, in the ordinary course of business, be named as defendants in litigation arising from our investments in such portfolio companies. Further, investments in such companies tend to be less liquid.

Finally, little public information generally exists about privately owned companies, and these companies often do not have third-party debt ratings or audited financial statements. Unitholders, therefore, must rely on the ability of the Adviser to obtain adequate information through due diligence to evaluate the creditworthiness and potential returns from investing in these companies. Additionally, these companies and their financial information will not generally be subject to the U.S. Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and other rules that govern U.S. or Canadian public companies. If the Adviser is unable to uncover all material information about these companies, it may not make a fully informed investment decision, and shareholders may lose money on their investments.

These factors may make certain portfolio companies of the Master Fund more susceptible to the adverse effects of COVID-19 and resulting government regulations.

The Master Fund is regulated as a Business Development Company and taxed as a Registered Investment Company. To qualify for the tax benefits available to registered investment companies ("RICs") and to minimize corporate-level U.S. federal income taxes, the Master Fund intends to distribute to its shareholders at least 90% of its taxable income each tax year, except that it may retain some or all of its net capital gains, and to designate the retained amount as a "deemed distribution." In that case, among other consequences, the Master Fund will pay corporate-level tax on the retained amount. The amount of the deemed distribution net of such tax will be added to its shareholder's cost basis for its shares of the Master Fund for U.S. tax purposes.

As a business development company, the Master Fund may issue “senior securities,” including borrowing money from banks or other financial institutions so long as it meets an asset coverage ratio, as calculated as provided in the Investment Company Act, of at least 150%, after such incurrence or issuance.

These requirements limit the amount that the Master Fund may borrow, may unfavorably limit its investment opportunities and may reduce its ability in comparison to other companies to profit from favorable spreads between the rates at which it can borrow and the rates at which it can lend. If the value of its assets declines, the Master Fund may be unable to satisfy the asset coverage test, which could prohibit it from paying distributions and could prevent it from being subject to U.S. tax as a RIC. If the Master Fund cannot satisfy the asset coverage test, it may be required to sell a portion of its investments and, depending on the nature of its debt financing, if any, repay a portion of such indebtedness at a time when such sales may be disadvantageous.

No Due Diligence of the Master Fund. The Fund has been formed specifically to invest in the Master Fund, and the Manager has not conducted due diligence to evaluate alternative potential investments for the Fund. The Manager does not intend to conduct investment or operational due diligence with respect to the Master Fund and its target investments. Similarly, the Manager will not perform any due diligence on or otherwise gauge the effectiveness of the Master Fund’s investment program or process. Accordingly, there is a risk that the Manager may not detect potential conflicts of interest, fraudulent behavior or investment, administrative or operational weaknesses with respect to the Master Fund, any of which may give rise to substantial losses.

Reliance on the Adviser. The Master Fund’s success, and in turn the Fund’s success, is dependent upon the relationship with, and the performance of, the Adviser in the management of Master Fund’s portfolio, and Master Fund’s operations. The Adviser may suffer or become distracted by adverse financial or operational problems in connection with its business and activities unrelated to the Master Fund and over which the Master Fund, the Fund and the Manager have no control. Should the Adviser fail to allocate sufficient resources to perform its responsibilities to the Master Fund for any reason, the Fund may be unable to achieve its investment objectives or to pay distributions to investors.

Tracking Error. Although the Fund invests substantially all of its assets in the Master Fund, its performance will not be identical to the returns achieved by the Master Fund. The costs and expenses applicable to an investment in the Fund itself (including the management fee, the Fund’s loan facility, the Fund’s investment in cash equivalents and cost of the hedging strategy) will necessarily result in the Fund underperforming the Master Fund Shares. In addition, a variety of other factors may contribute to deviations between the performance of the Fund and the Master Fund, including, but not limited to, tax consequences, the Fund’s loan facility, the fact that a portion of the Fund’s assets may be invested in cash equivalents and the Fund’s hedging strategy. From time to time and over time, there will be a tracking error between the performance of the Fund and the performance of the Master Fund that could, under certain circumstances, be material.

Reliance on Information Received from the Master Fund and the Adviser. The Fund has no means of independently verifying the information supplied to it by the Master Fund or the Adviser, including valuations and estimates of valuations (and subsequent potentially material revisions to such valuations or estimates) of investments made by the Master Fund. All information prepared by the Fund, the Manager and the Administrator and provided to Unitholders generally will be based on information received from the Master Fund. There can be no assurance that such information will be accurate. The Manager is entitled to rely conclusively on valuations provided to it by the Master Fund and shall not be liable to existing or former Unitholders for its reliance on any erroneous valuations or calculations provided by the Adviser or the Master Fund or any other service provider thereto.

Inflation. Certain of the portfolio companies of the Master Fund may be impacted by inflation. If such portfolio companies are unable to pass any increases in their costs along to their customers, it could adversely affect their results and their ability to pay interest and principal on their loans, particularly if interest rates rise in response to inflation. In addition, any projected future decreases in the Master Fund’s portfolio companies’ operating results due to inflation could adversely impact the fair value of those investments. Any decreases in the fair value of the Master Fund’s investments could result in future unrealized losses and therefore reduce its net assets resulting from operations.

Government Intervention. In recent years, the global financial markets have undergone disruptions which have led to certain governmental intervention. Such intervention has in certain cases been implemented on an “emergency” basis, suddenly and substantially eliminating market participants’ ability to continue to implement certain strategies or manage the risk of their outstanding positions. In addition, these interventions have typically been unclear in scope and application, resulting in confusion and uncertainty which in itself has been materially detrimental to the efficient functioning of the markets as well as previously successful investment strategies. It is impossible to predict what additional interim or permanent governmental restrictions may be imposed on the market or the effect of such restrictions on the objective and strategies of the Fund and the Master Fund.

Deployment of Capital by the Master Fund. In light of the nature of Master Fund’s continuous offering and its investment strategy and the need to be able to deploy capital quickly to capitalize on potential investment opportunities or to establish reserves for anticipated debts, liabilities or obligations, including liquidity needs, the Master Fund may hold cash in money market instruments pending deployment into other investments, the amount of which may at times be significant. While the duration of any such holding period is expected to be relatively short, in the event the Master Fund is unable to find suitable investments, such money market investments may be held for longer periods, which would dilute overall investment returns. It is not anticipated that the temporary investment of such cash into money market investments will generate significant interest, and shareholders of Master Fund, including the Fund, should understand that such low interest payments on the temporarily invested cash may adversely affect the overall returns of the Master Fund.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS
